Syndromes and a Century is a beautiful, seductive film that travels across time and space through the changing times of Thailand. Inspired by the filmmaker's parents in the years before they met, the film's first part focuses on a woman doctor and is set in a space reminiscent of the world in which the filmmaker was born and raised. The second part focuses on a male doctor and is set in a more contemporary world. Pearls of wisdom, descriptions of syndromes and fragments of time crystallize in luminous atmospheres and dot the modern architecture of the film, creating a charming, quiet incantation. From the director of Blissfully Yours and Tropical Malady. 2006 Nominated for Golden Lion, Venice Film Festival; 2006 T.I.F.F.; 2006 Rotterdam F.F. Rated R.

AGH film series is generously sponsored by Turkstra Lumber.
