AGH Annex to close on February 28, 2018

The board and management of the Art Gallery of Hamilton have decided to cease operations at the AGH Annex located at 118 James Street North, effective February 28.

“At this time, we’re focusing our resources on our core activities as outlined in our strategic plan, including the care of our Collection and its related education and programming activities at our main space at 123 King Street West,” said Art Gallery of Hamilton President and CEO Shelley Falconer. “Having a satellite location has been a positive experience for us and we’re proud to have played a part in the revitalization of James North and community.”

Originally opened in July 2012 the AGH Annex was a programming, exhibition and performance venue, and a unique, versatile event rental space.
