1. For a first incident, the staff supervisor or Volunteer Co-Ordinator will discuss the violation with the Volunteer, and with the Volunteer Association Placement Liaison/Volunteer Association Executive Chair if requested. The Volunteer will be given the opportunity to voice his/her side of the violation. A resolution to the problem and a time-frame will be agreed upon, and will be documented.
2. For a second incident, the staff supervisor or the Volunteer Co-Ordinator will provide a written statement documenting the concern, outlining the required solution, and the course of action to be taken if the solution is not achieved – in most cases, termination from the Volunteer Association.
3. For a third incident, if no suitable resolution has been achieved, a meeting with the Volunteer, the Staff Supervisor, Volunteer Co-Ordinator, and the Director, People & Operations. The Volunteer will be asked to leave the Volunteer Association.

N.B. In cases of very serious violations (including harassment, touching, endangerment), the staff supervisor, Director, People & Operations, the Volunteer Association Placement Liaison and the Volunteer Association Chair may proceed immediately to step three at their discretion.

Appendix C: Volunteer Code of Conduct

Intent

The Art Gallery of Hamilton has experienced a long and successful history as one of the leading arts institutions in the Hamilton community. Our reputation in this regard is a priceless asset. It is our strong belief that the continuing commitment to the highest standards of integrity and professional conduct on the part of our volunteers has been a key factor in building that reputation.

The purpose of this policy is to educate volunteers with respect to the ethical standards under which the Gallery operates and to ask that all volunteers, through affixing their signatures to this policy, affirm their personal commitment to upholding those standards.

Guidelines

It is the express policy of the Art Gallery of Hamilton to act in all situations in a manner that reflects the highest possible standards of professionalism and ethical practice. Respect for one another, the Gallery and its mission, beliefs and values is paramount. It is our expectation that all volunteers of the Gallery, all staff, associates, and third parties acting on behalf of the Gallery will adopt a similar high standard of conduct while engaged in any business or other activity in association with the Gallery.

Some of the policies referenced herein have been previously stated elsewhere; others may be stated here for the first time.

Operation in Compliance with the Law:

It is the policy of the Gallery to operate in strict compliance with all Federal, Provincial and local laws and regulations. Such laws include, but are not limited to, laws relating to Employment Standards, Human Rights legislation, regulations relating to accounting practices, environmental legislation and laws relating to occupational health and safety. Any volunteer who has been requested to act in a way that they believe is in contravention of the law or of a Gallery policy should immediately report the request to Human Resources. Communication of such matters will be held in the strictest confidence and will be thoroughly investigated.

Conflicts of Interest:

A conflict of Interest is defined as a situation in which circumstances exist that are likely to give rise to divided loyalty on the part of a Gallery volunteer. Examples of potential conflicts of interest include:

- Giving preferential treatment to relatives, friends or associates, or to organizations or businesses of which they or their relatives, friends or associates have an interest in, financial or otherwise.
- Deriving financial gain from the use of confidential information acquired in the course of their activities at the AGH.
- Using AGH equipment or resources for personal purposes unrelated to the AGH.

In all such situations or any other in which a volunteer senses that they may have a conflict of interest or even the perception of a conflict of interest, the volunteer must declare the conflict to their staff supervisor and act as advised by that supervisor.

Volunteers who do not declare a conflict of interest and act in ways that profit themselves, their friends or relatives at the Gallery's expense risk summary dismissal with cause as a consequence.

Confidential Information:

Some volunteers will from time to time become privy to information that the Gallery considers to be confidential in nature and which the Gallery must, or prefers, to keep private from the general public. Such information may include, but is not limited to:

- Information regarding the Gallery's financial performance or operating statistics
- Information regarding the Gallery's forward looking plans or strategies
- Information regarding targeted acquisitions
- Personal information or the personnel records of Gallery employees
- Information regarding the Gallery's members and donors.

Volunteers entrusted with such confidential information understand that it is confided to them for their internal use only and under no circumstances must it be shared with any external person or agency without the express permission of the Gallery's President and CEO. Failure to maintain the confidentiality of sensitive information will be viewed as major misconduct and will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including removal from the Volunteer Association.

Unacceptable Actions/Behaviours:

To preserve the core values and business principles that our organization is founded upon, we have compiled a list of unacceptable behavioural actions that have been classified as either:

1. Hazardous to individual safety;
2. Criminal;
3. A negative influence on volunteer morale; or
4. Detrimental to the success of our business.

The Art Gallery of Hamilton reserves the right to discipline and, in certain cases, remove the volunteer from the Volunteer Association, for participating in any conduct that violates the Art Gallery of Hamilton's Volunteer Code of Conduct standards and policies.

Unacceptable behaviours shall include, but not be limited to the following:

- Consistently arriving to shifts late without providing advance notice and/or without reasonable cause;
- Acting in a way that does not demonstrate our mission, beliefs and values; and
- Causing harm to another person through threats, harassing behaviour, bullying or disregard for cultural, racial and/or individual differences;
- Willful damage or destruction to AGH property, or another individual's property;
- Insubordination, disorderly, or indecent conduct;
- Violation of health, safety and security practices, policies and procedures as outlined in the volunteer manual
- Theft, including physical and intellectual properties;

- The use, possession, sale, or dispensation of any illegal drug, alcohol, weapon or paraphernalia associated with it while on the AGH property;
- The use of alcohol, cannabis or illicit narcotics off AGH premises that adversely affects the volunteer's performance, the volunteer's own safety or the safety of others on site, or the AGH's reputation in the community;

Volunteers are expected to perform their duties in a manner conducive to a safe workplace, following all AGH practices, policies and procedures.
